Ultimate School ERP

D-SMS is not only a student information system. It is much more than that. With its integrated Finance and Human Resource module it can take care of all the system and process needed to run your organization efficiently.

User friendliness

Designlabs School Management System (D-SMS) is created to be used. The user interface and experience is designed while keeping the common man in mind. While studying the existing softwares we found out that most schools are not using any software (even after paying huge money) due to the difficult user interface. Our aim was to make anyone with basic knowledge in computers to be able to use D-SMS on first login without any instructions. If we can believe the reviews we get everyday, we are successful in achieving this aim.

Modern Web Technologies

SmS is a Web 2.0 software developed on the powerful frame work of Ruby on Rails. It is very secure, powerful and smart. You can use mobile app of D-SMS in your Android or iPhone mobile devices. Some smart schools have integrated biometric attendance hardware with SmS to record the attendance of students and teachers. D-SMS is a web application, which means you can access and use your fedena installation from anywhere around the world from any device which has an internet connection and browser.

Easy and Affordable Customizations

We know that all the schools in the world are different from each other in their process and system. Even two schools nearby geographically will have different way of managing student and academics. D-SMS can be easily customized to suit your specific needs. Schools in African, South American and Asian countries are using D-SMS after customizing the basic version. You can regionalize D-SMS with support for the local language. With lot of Add-on modules which can be integrated at any time, the power and usability of D-SMS is incomparable.

Brilliant Developers and Amazing Support

DSMS is developed in the labs of Foradian Technologies - The fastest growing technology company from India. With a global vision and focus, foradian develops products and services that help people realise the power of internet in their day to day activities. Foradian is an official partner of Canonical and is involved in many opensource project and social initiatives. By choosing our services, you will get support from the people who developed D-SMS from scratch. Our detailed documentation and tutorials will help you run your school activities more efficiently with the help of D-SMS.

Amazing list of Features and Functionality

D-SMS offers different modules which helps to manage all the system and process of your institution. Starting from the registration and admission module to dedicated finance and human resource module, D-SMS is the perfect ERP ever developed for educational institute. DS-MS offers separate login access for teachers, parents, students and non-teaching staff. It can be integrated with SMS gateway to receive alerts directly on your phone. Use it to conduct online examinations and manage your transportation vehicles. With Fedena the options are endless.

Wide range of Services and flexible pricing

We provide wide range of services which includes installation, support, training, documentation, hosting and customization of D-SMS. The pricing is highly flexible and affordable. You have the freedom to host fedena in your server or our server. You have the freedom to install D-SMS on your own and get support from us. You can also get D-SMS customized by us and then take care of the hosting yourself.
